

Special Issue

Within and Beyond Ideology - Understanding Islamist Ideas and Concepts in Post-Islamist Groups

Message from the Guest Editor

Throughout the years, Islamists in the Muslim Brotherhood, Al-Nahda and other organizations have developed a wide-ranging discourse to express their views on Islamist politics, but how have post-Islamists reinterpreted, dismissed or reinforced these ideas to give meaning to their new positions? In other words: what ideological impact does post-Islamism have? This Special Issue seeks to address the understudied subject of the conceptual and ideological underpinnings of post-Islamism. As such, it strives to contribute to our knowledge of developing ideas among religious organizations and parties in general and to those of post-Islamist ones and their transition from their Islamist predecessors in particular.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
