Remote Sensing of Vegetation Phenology

Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We are delighted to announce this Special Issue on the phenology of terrestrial vegetation. Phenology is the variation of recurrent key stages in the plant life cycle, linked to environmental changes. By extension, it also includes the mean seasonal cycle of relevant biophysical and biochemical quantities and their temporal and spatial changes. Remote sensing is a major player in this science, and we welcome all contributions related.

Dr. Fabienne Maignan
Dr. Natasha MacBean
Dr. Koen Hufkens
Prof. Kamel Soudani

Guest Editors

Deadline for manuscript submissions:
30 November 2019

mdpi.com/si/24036