

Special Issue

Remote Sensing of Floodpath Lakes and Wetlands

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to publish original manuscripts of latest innovative research in recent advances in remote sensing of floodpath lakes and wetlands. Comprehensive reviews of this research field are also welcome. The potential topics include, but are not limited to: State-of-the-art remote sensing technologies for capturing dynamics of floodpath lakes and wetlands; Evaluations of newly available and/or new development of remote sensing approaches for studying floodpath lakes and wetlands; Methods for processing multispatial, multitemporal, multisensor remote sensing data in monitoring of floodpath lakes and wetlands; Applications of remote sensing in inventory, monitoring and management of floodpath lakes and wetlands.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Remote Sensing is now a prominent international journal of repute in the world of remote sensing and spatial sciences, as a pioneer and pathfinder in open access format. It has highly accomplished global remote sensing scientists on the editorial board and a dedicated team of associate editors. The journal emphasizes quality and novelty and has a rigorous peer-review process. It is now one of the top remote sensing journals with a significant Impact Factor, and a goal to become the best journal in remote sensing in the coming years. I strongly recommend Remote Sensing for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, PubAg, GeoRef, Astrophysics Data System, Inspec, dblp, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Geosciences, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Earth and Planetary Sciences)
