

Special Issue

Satellite Data Application, Validation and Calibration for Atmospheric Observation

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will focus on the calibration/validation (cal/val) of advanced passive sensors (IR and/or MW) essential for Earth (atmospheric/oceanic) observation onboard both operational and experimental environmental satellites, including, but not limited to, NOAA-20, SNPP, Aqua, Metop-B,-C, GOES-16,-17, Meteosat, Himawari, and FY satellites. We invite papers in the areas of sensor (SDR) calibration, algorithm/retrieval (EDR) validation (including intensive campaigns), and sensitivity/impact on derived product (e.g., EDR) applications.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Remote Sensing is now a prominent international journal of repute in the world of remote sensing and spatial sciences, as a pioneer and pathfinder in open access format. It has highly accomplished global remote sensing scientists on the editorial board and a dedicated team of associate editors. The journal emphasizes quality and novelty and has a rigorous peer-review process. It is now one of the top remote sensing journals with a significant Impact Factor, and a goal to become the best journal in remote sensing in the coming years. I strongly recommend Remote Sensing for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
