Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Structural Health Monitoring (SHM) presents a systematic, objective, and predictive approach to structural assessment that enables the early detection of potential issues, informed decision-making in maintenance practices, and the enhancement of overall structural safety and durability.

This Special Issue invites contributions that address the use of innovative sensors, sensing principles, or the innovative use of traditional sensors and transducers to solve the sensing needs of a particular SHM project. Topics related to SHM include but are not limited to:

- Novel sensors.
- Optical fiber sensors.
- Smart paints.
- Luminescence-based sensing systems.
- Large strain sensors.
- Sensors for extreme environments.
- Vision-based sensors.
- IoT and cloud-linked sensors.
- Pattern recognition and deep learning with smart sensor systems.
- Self-sensing composite materials.
- Bio-inspired sensor networks.
- Self-sensing and self-healing concrete materials.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Author Benefits

Open Access : free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE \(Web of Science\), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
