Deadline for manuscript submissions: closed (31 March 2021) Dear Colleagues,

Underwater Wireless Sensor Networks (UWSNs) have attracted significant research attention recently, in both industry and academia. UWSNs are expected to enable various practical applications, such as real-time underwater sensing, sea-life monitoring, port surveillance, ocean mapping, subsea infrastructure inspection, wireless diver-to-diver communication, wireless diver/underwater vehicle communication, untethered sea exploration, subsea search-and-rescue operations, underwater wireless video feeds, and off-shore drilling monitoring. This Special Issue addresses all types of underwater wireless sensing, communication, networking and system designs.
