

Special Issue

Sensor Networks Technologies for E-Health Applications

Message from the Guest Editors

Digital Technologies are offering many diversified innovative advances and solutions in the health area. At the applications level, the democratization of dedicated embedded systems, smart systems and virtual healthcare delivery, issues such as cyber security, data analytics, and also customer experience are receiving the interest of researchers and developers. This Special Issue aims to present new applied tech solutions in health, healthcare, rehabilitation, and ageing, including new signal processing tools and machine learning methodologies. The content should be related to, but is not limited to, the following topics:

- embedded systems;
- wearable tech;
- big data;
- AI and ML;
- intelligent systems;
- technologies (nutrition; fitness; wellbeing; ageing; behavioural and brain health)

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Editor-in-Chief

Dipartimento di Ingegneria Elettrica e dell'Informazione (Department of Electrical and Information Engineering), Politecnico di Bari, Via Edoardo Orabona n. 4, 70125 Bari, Italy

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
