

Special Issue

Vision- and Image-Based Biomedical Diagnostics—2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

Recent significant advances in biomedical imaging have led to not only significantly increased visual fidelity, but also new insights and understanding into diseases that were previously not possible to capture for supporting improved diagnostics and clinical decision support. The goal of this Special Issue is to promote recent technical advances in all relevant aspects. The topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Biomedical imaging systems and techniques for diagnosis purposes;
- Machine learning and AI algorithms for the diagnosis and prognosis of diseases;
- Image analysis algorithms (segmentation, region-of-interest detection, feature extraction, etc.) for supporting the diagnosis and prognosis of diseases;
- Intelligent systems for vision- and image-based biomedical diagnostics;
- Multimodal fusion methods for combining information from different imaging systems and/or a mix of imaging and clinical metadata.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
