Nanosensors: 2025 Perspectives

Message from the Guest Editors

To explore the future development of the nanosensors field, we are launching this Special Issue titled "Nanosensors: 2025 Perspectives". Unlike traditional research articles, it is a collection of short articles in which our section's EBM's and selected researchers briefly offer their views on the state of the art, challenges, and possible future directions of current hot topics in the nanosensors field in which they are experts. We warmly encourage all section's EBM's to share their perspectives on the latest developments in nanosensors and sensing systems or to invite relevant experts and colleagues to do so.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
