

Special Issue

Analytics and Applications of Audio and Image Sensing Techniques

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Edition of the Journal Sensors is focused on original research involving the use of various audio and image sensing devices, both simultaneously and separately. The goal is to collect a diverse set of papers that span a wide range of analyses and possible applications. Specifically, the interest is in papers that address the use of environment-based sensors, i.e., placed on the ground, cased in the air or water, etc., and the development of software utilizing the output of these sensors. Papers focused on the construction of optimized sensors are also welcomed. This Special Issue encourages researchers and practitioners to submit review papers, original research articles, but not limited to, the following topics:

- Digital signal processing
- Audio signal analysis
- Image analysis
- Pattern recognition

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
