Feature Papers in the 'Sensor Networks' Section 2024

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to announce that the “Sensor Networks” Section is now compiling a collection of papers submitted by the Section’s Editorial Board Members (EBMs) and outstanding scholars in this research field. We welcome contributions and recommendations from EBMs. The Section covers theoretical and experimental problems, especially considering the rise of Internet of things (IoT) applications that allow several devices to connect in a smart way. In general, this Section aims to provide researchers with a platform on which to publish their scientific work that can influence the scientific community as well as the general public. We would also like to take this opportunity to call on more excellent scholars to join the Sensor Networks Section so that we can work together to further develop this exciting field of research. For detailed information, please visit here.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
