Sensors and Smart City

Message from the Guest Editors

A Smart City represents an improvement in today's cities, both functionally and structurally, that strategically utilizes many smart factors, such as information and communications technology (ICT), to increase a city's sustainable growth. Continuous monitoring of a city's status occurs through sensors and processors applied within real-world infrastructure.

The topic of this Special Issue includes but not limited to the following:

- Internet of Things
- smart cities application and services
- city and infrastructure monitoring
- artificial intelligence
- signal, image, information processing
- sensor-based management system for smart cities
- pattern recognition
- sensor applications for infrastructure safety monitoring
- computer vision applications for defect identification and monitoring

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
