Smart Agriculture in Nanjing Agricultural University: Celebrating 120th Anniversary

Message from the Guest Editor

Nanjing Agricultural University was funded in 1902 by the Ministry of Education of China. It is a leading institution in agriculture-related disciplines in China and across the world. NJAU is now home to 66 provincial-, ministerial-, and national-level research platforms, including the National Engineering and Technology Center for IT-based Agriculture. To celebrate this 120th anniversary of NJAU, Sensors will publish this Special Issue entitled "Smart Agriculture in Nanjing Agricultural University: Celebrating the 120th Anniversary". This Special Issue will collect high-quality full research articles or comprehensive literature reviews in the broad scope of sensor-based smart agriculture.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
