

Special Issue

Non-Invasive Biomedical Sensors

Message from the Guest Editors

We would like to cordially invite you to participate in a special issue on “Non-Invasive Biomedical Sensors”. This special issue is focused on the latest achievements in chemical and physical biomedical sensors for the non-invasive and personalized health monitoring. Contributions to this Special Issue may include, but are not limited to:

- Novel sensing techniques for non-invasive measurement of biomarkers;
- New insights into non-invasive biomarkers which provide information on the physiological state of people;
- Recent advances in sensor materials, properties and device concepts for non-invasive monitoring of chemical and physical body parameters;
- Sensor fabrication and testing techniques; Wearable sensors, Wireless sensors, and application-oriented non-invasive sensor systems, as well as closely-related topics, are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Editor-in-Chief
