

Special Issue

Artificial Intelligence Applications to Smart City

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to present recent work on intelligent systems for cities. We are inviting reviews, regular research papers (articles), and communications in all areas of research concerning, but not limited to, the following topics, when applied to the context of cities, citizens, and densely populated and highly interconnected areas:

- Artificial Intelligence and models for understanding the city;
- E-health for citizens;
- Crowd management;
- Security and privacy of city services;
- Edge/fog architectures for cities;
- Experimentation and deployments;
- Cyberphysical systems: public utilities, buildings;
- Transport and mobility: vehicular networks, traffic congestion, reduced pollution;
- Digital twins for the smart city.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Vittorio M. N. Passaro

Department of Electrical and Information Engineering, Politecnico di Bari, Via Orabona 4, 70126 Bari, Italy

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
