

Special Issue

Security and Privacy in IoT Systems and Applications

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of Sensors aims at collecting original research papers, surveys, and case studies that advance the area of security and privacy for IoT systems and applications. This Special Issue includes but is not limited to the following topics:

- authentication, authorization, access control, and auditing in IoT systems
- lightweight and postquantum cryptography with key management in IoT systems
- malware protection of IoT devices
- threat modelling, security testing, and security certifications of IoT systems
- physical attacks on and countermeasures for IoT devices
- privacy-enhancing technologies for IoT systems
- case studies of real security incidents and privacy breaches related to IoT systems
- emerging trends and new directions in security and privacy of IoT systems and applications

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
