

Special Issue

Smart Sensor Integration in Wearables

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this Special Issue is to highlight the most recent research regarding Smart Sensor Integration in Wearables. This Special Issue focuses on the development and challenge of Smart Sensor Integration in Wearables. The broader aim is to collect high-quality papers from researchers around the world working in this area. Research articles and reviews are solicited that provide a comprehensive insight into the Smart Sensor Integration in Wearables on any aspect of novel sensor development and applications. Topics of interest include but are not limited to the following:

- wearable
- smart sensors
- electrodermal activity
- embedded integration
- wearable electronic devices
- wireless sensor for wearables
- body area network
- wearable devices and systems
- activity monitoring devices and systems
- wearable imaging
- health data acquisition

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
