

Special Issue

Sensors for Human Movement Recognition and Analysis: 2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editor

We are pleased to announce the second edition of this Special Issue of Sensors and to invite you to submit a manuscript. The original Special Issue can be accessed at https://www.mdpi.com/journal/sensors/special_issues/Y82VW94F7P. Recently, there has been an increase in the number of consumer-level smart sensors and wearables designed for movement monitoring.

However, there is often a lack of academic research and validation on the methods used by these devices. This Special Issue aims to compile original research and review articles on recent advances in sensors for human movement recognition and analysis. Potential applications include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Assistive technology;
- Rehabilitation;
- Sport Science;
- Smart PPE equipment.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
