Special Issue

Wearable Motion Sensors and Textiles for Human Movement Analysis, Motor Activity and Healthy Lifestyle

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims at reporting the latest research updates in wearable motion sensors and textiles, and their applications in human movement across the lifespan. Possible topics include but are not limited to:

- Wearable sensors, protocols, and algorithms for human movement analysis;
- Wearable sensors, protocols, and algorithms for motor development in childhood;
- Wearable sensors, protocols, and algorithms for feedback in sports activity;
- Wearable sensors, protocols, and algorithms for motor activity assessment in daily life;
- Wearable motion sensors and textiles, protocols and algorithms in aging research;
- Wearable motion sensors and textiles, protocols and algorithms in injury prevention;
- Wearable motion sensors and textiles, protocols and algorithms for healthy lifestyle promotion.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
