Advances in Coding, Sensing, and Processing for CFA Images, Light Field Images, and Point Cloud

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue, we hope to invite you to contribute your new research results about compression and image processing for CFA images, light field images, and point cloud. With the acquired three kinds of sensing data, topics of interest in this Special Issue include (but are not limited to) noise removal, demosaicking, compression, super resolution, depth estimation, matching, 3D reconstruction, registration, segmentation, and deep learning applications.
