

Special Issue

Recent Advances in Robotics and Intelligent Mechatronics Systems

Message from the Guest Editors

With a wide range of applications for robots in industry and service sectors, real-time computing plays one of the major roles in various topics in robotics including real-time control, human-robot interactions, sensor perception and fusion, robot intelligence, etc. This Special Issue covers research, development, and applications in the dynamic and exciting areas of real-time computing and robotics, with an emphasis on both theoretical and application results. The topic is open, but special focus will be given to, but is not limited to, robotics, mechatronics, automation and control systems, artificial intelligence, and sensor perception and fusion techniques, and so on. ## About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
