Special Issue

Sensors for Olfaction and Taste

Message from the Guest Editors

The aim of this Special Issue is to present the latest research on the mechanisms of olfaction and taste in living organisms, and the sensing technologies related to them. We welcome contributions on olfactory mechanisms, their information processing, behavioral algorithms, mobile robots, and their combinations, which are expected to be applied to sensing technologies.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
