Group Processes Using Quantitative Research Methods

Message from the Guest Editor

We welcome original research and theoretical papers including, but not limited to, the following:

- Expectations, status, and behavior theories;
- Power, dependence, and social exchange theories;
- Identity theories and group dynamics;
- Affect control theories of social interaction and the self;
- Justice theories;
- Legitimation theories;
- Theories of emotions and group interactions;
- Research on teams, work groups, and other group configurations—that is, theory-driven by other social psychological frameworks not mentioned above.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Social Sciences is an international, open access, peer-reviewed journal publishing the latest research across all disciplines of the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, law, linguistics, education, geography, history, political science, psychology, sociology, and other related areas. The journal is especially interested in interdisciplinary research, and aims to encourage creative, innovative, and critical reflections across social science disciplines. The journal welcomes conventional length articles, shorter Research Notes or articles, as well as Special Issue submissions, as long as they meet the journal's standards of quality and originality.

Editor-in-Chief
