

Special Issue

Technology, Digital Media and Politics

Message from the Guest Editors

It invites innovative and interdisciplinary research that delves into these rapidly evolving landscapes. We encourage submissions that address a variety of themes, including but not limited to the following:

- Technological innovations and their implications for digital behavior and governance.
- Cross-national comparisons of digital trends and their societal effects.
- Case studies examining digital engagement during local and international crises.
- Analysis of the content of online engagement and its implications for public discourse.
- The challenges posed by misinformation and algorithmic governance.
- The role of digital technologies in facilitating and shaping political movements.
- The impact of online engagement on social and political outcomes.
- The impact of online platforms on global and local socio-political dynamics.
- Theoretical contributions that offer new frameworks for understanding digital political interactions.

We encourage researchers from diverse disciplinary backgrounds to contribute and look forward to showcasing a broad spectrum of innovative perspectives.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Social Sciences is an international open access peer-reviewed journal publishing the latest research across all disciplines of the social sciences including anthropology, criminology, economics, education, geography, history, law, linguistics, political science, psychology, social policy, social work, sociology and related areas. The journal is especially interested in interdisciplinary research, and aims to facilitate the interaction and communication between different social scientific disciplines. The journal welcomes conventional length articles as well as shorter Research Notes or short articles, as long as they meet the journal's standards of quality and originality.
