Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue endeavors to put together a comprehensive set of articles of key relevance for the sectoral working group (SWG) on “ecosystem services in a bio- and circular economy” of the Ecosystem Service Partnership.

Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Biomimicry design
- Addressing potential externalities (e.g. the risk cycle of micropollutants) in a circular bioeconomy
- Transition towards low carbon economies and how it affects ecosystem services
- The impacts and interactions of the bio- and/or circular economy on ecosystem services
- Integrating ecosystem services in holistic assessments such as life cycle assessments
- How to (and should we) develop local bio- and circular economy systems within a globalized economy?
- Potential trade-offs in the urgent climate change mitigation for ecosystem service preservation
- Nature-based solutions and/or engineered ecosystem services in bio- and circular economies

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
