Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue seeks to publish original research and review articles exploring the theoretical, methodological, or technical developments related to EIA, and articles using monitoring, GIS, and remote sensing data to assess the consequences of environmental or land use changes to humans and the environment are also within the scope of the Special Issue.

Potential topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- 1) Emerging pollutants and their environmental hazards;
- 2) Contamination and eco-risk assessment;
- 3) Environmental and biological indicators;
- 4) New assessment methods and procedures;
- 5) Impact of hazardous materials on human, plant, and animal health;
- 6) Sources, environmental accessibility, and bioavailability;
- 7) Dynamics and environmental fates in terrestrial and aquatic environments;
- 8) Interaction of multiple pollutants and potential environmental consequences;
- 9) Methods and dynamic models simulating or predicting environmental behaviors and impact;
- 10) Assessment of pollution control and remediation for sustainable development.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer-reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
