Message from the Guest Editor

The Internet of Things (IoT) is becoming a key enabling technology, with multiple innovations supporting the smart city paradigm. For instance, providing multi-hop collaboration among IoT sensor networks helps to reach possible services from Cloud computing facilities, and machine learning (ML) techniques are employed to adapt existing configurations. Moreover, emerging 5th and 6th generation (5G/6G) technologies can revolutionize ubiquitous computing with numerous sustainable applications built around various "smart" sensors enabled with cognition and ML techniques. ML has shown an outstanding performance in complicated tasks that require human-like intelligence and intuition.

This Special Issue brings together a broad multidisciplinary community studying cognitive architectures across science and engineering. It aims to integrate ideas, theories, models, and techniques from across different disciplines on cognitive architectures.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE and SSCI \(Web of Science\), GEOBASE, GeoRef, Inspec, RePEc, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Environmental Studies) / CiteScore - Q1 (Geography, Planning and Development)
