Message from the Guest Editors

In this Sustainability Special Issue, we welcome papers from a wide range of epistemological, conceptual, and methodological backgrounds in order to shed light on KT in the context of sustainable development, filling the gap in the literature. Thus, we encourage papers that examine this phenomenon from a multidisciplinary approach, employ different methodologies (e.g., qualitative, quantitative) at both micro- or macrolevels of analysis, and offer interesting theoretical and empirical findings that address, but are not restricted to, the following domains of inquiry:

- The relationship between KT models and firm's sustainability;
- Integrating Industry 4.0 to achieve sustainable development at macro- or microlevels of analysis;
- Social capital and KT in a context of sustainability;
- Human resources in developing socially and environmentally responsible KT practices;
- Universities as sources of KT for sustainable development;
- Challenges and opportunities behind AI, robotics and the digital technologies for KT on sustainable development;

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer-reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
