Message from the Guest Editors

The aim of this Special Issue is to provide valuable insights into sustainability in a broad area of construction-related issues, with a specific interest in methods, empirical evidence and applications, simulations, as well as conceptual frameworks. We are looking for sustainable construction industry solutions related to each of the five common phases: (1) feasibility, (2) design, (3) execution, (4) commissioning and operation, including maintenance, and (5) demolition.

Topics for this Special Issue include (but are not limited to):

- Sustainable building design;
- Technological innovations in construction;
- Green project management;
- Quality management;
- Optimization in construction
- Education of construction and managerial personnel;
- Legal issues;
- Social psychology, sociology, mentoring, and coaching in construction;
- Human resource management;
- Green prefabrication;
- BIM, digital twins, extended reality (XR), virtual reality (AR), augmented reality, mixed reality (MR), laser scanners, drones, etc.
