Message from the Guest Editors

The recent COVID-19 pandemic has challenged the delivery of training and education worldwide. In parallel, research in the times of COVID-19 has become more demanding in terms of research methodologies and the delivery of sound scientific contributions.

In this Special Issue, we are interested in analyzing the diversified training, education, and research context in the times of the COVID-19 pandemic. Our intention is to analyze the key implications of the modified online mode of delivery as well as the components of strategies and policies that enhance the social value and the social impact of training, education, and research.
