Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue will include a collection of high-quality papers on specific and comparative research on policies, laws and regulations, planning, management, operations, and financing associated with sustainable transportation planning and policy for seniors, individuals with disabilities, and individuals with low income. In addition, papers examining financing mechanisms, social security, senior-friendly neighborhood and community planning, and impacts of the recent coronavirus epidemic on senior transportation and well-being, as well as sustainable transportation planning and policy in general will be particularly welcomed.

All submissions must be original and not be under review by any other journals. For Instructions for Authors and manuscript submission guidelines, please check: <https://www.mdpi.com/journal/sustainability/instructions>.

Since this Special Issue is planned to be published in May 2021, please submit your manuscripts by January 31, 2021.

To submit your manuscript, register and log in to the submission website: <https://susy.mdpi.com/>

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer-reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
