Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue, we aim to publish high-quality research articles on topics related, but not limited to:

- Challenges and opportunities in the analysis of travel behaviour in the era of new data sources
- Conceptual pieces on the assessment of environmental, social, and economic implications as a result of travel behaviour
- Empirical work on the interrelation between travel behaviour and environmental, social, and economic impacts
- Future scenario analysis considering the potential uptake of cleaner vehicles or travel services (or both)
- Approaches for the integrated assessment of travel behaviour, emissions, air quality, and energy consumption
