Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This special issue seeks papers that discuss how to build more resilient mountain landscapes and communities. It will contribute to sustainable mountain development and the body of knowledge concerning the social dimensions of planned interventions in mountain areas. It aims to integrate DRR and community resilience thinking into the sustainable mountain development discourse.

We welcome papers that are related to any of the following topics:

- Vulnerabilities, risks, and the root causes of disaster;
- Past and ongoing development;
- Key drivers and constraints to vulnerability and risk-reduction, and resilience-building, and lessons learned;
- Specific examples, case studies of good practice, or theoretical discussion around topics such as community and eco-system based DRR initiatives, community empowerment processes, community-led recovery, reconstruction, and development, eco-museums, community-based resource management, slow-food, local food production systems, cittaslow, sustainable/responsible tourism, and related topics.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer-reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
