Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue provides a forum to discuss and identify the implications of digitalization, globalization, tourism and virtual reality on the psychological construct of place attachment. Special attention should be given to the implication of these developments in mobility and technology on the links between place attachment and pro-environmental behaviours, aiming to identify the barriers, challenges and opportunities for sustainability.

Keywords:

- Place Attachment
- Pro-environmental behavior
- Globalization
- ICT
- Place relationships
- Topophilia
- Sense of place
