Message from the Collection Editors

Dear Colleagues,

The CIRC4Life project develops three circular economy business models (CEBMs): the co-creation of products and services, sustainable consumption, and collaborative recycling/reuse. In order to further develop and implement circular economy approaches and sustainability, to share the CIRC4Life project achievements and to promote the research outcome in the research areas, this Topical Collection calls for papers focused on, but not limited to, the following topics:

- Circular economy and sustainability methods/technologies
- Circular economy and sustainability implementation
- Development and support for circular economy and sustainability
