Message from the Guest Editors

The increasing demand for advanced manufacturing processes for function is making an impact on the Earth's resources, and its industrial practices are producing negative impacts on the environment, such as carbon footprints, energy resources, waste, etc. The trend of advanced manufacturing coincides with the acceleration of innovations in sustainable techniques. Sustainable development is a globally recognized mandate and it includes green or environment-friendly manufacturing practices. Sustainability also depends upon the 6 Rs of materials (reuse, recycle, redesign, remanufacture, reduce, recover) and manufacturing processes can play an important role in maintaining a homeostasis-balanced environment.

The scope of the proposed Special Issue includes sustainable and advanced manufacturing processes. We welcome high-quality research papers presenting new trends in the study of manufacturing processes and materials with a sustainable approach. The Guest Editors (GEs) welcome literature reviews, research papers, and case studies.
