Dear Colleagues,

Teleworking is a term used to describe work that is performed remotely, rather than from a fixed office or place of employment. It dates back to the mid-1970s and the early work of Jack Nilles.

The purpose of this Special Issue is to offer critical analysis, of a range of the sustainability benefits that have been experienced as a result of the sudden increase in teleworking, and propose how these benefits might be maintained long after pandemic restrictions have been lifted.

Potential topics include, but are not restricted to, how increased telework has impacted:

- Non-essential work travel;
- Greenhouse gas emissions and air quality;
- Urban congestion and transport planning;
- Energy and water use;
- Regionalisation and changes in settlement patterns;
- Resilient utilities and infrastructure;
- Urban planning and preferred urban form;
- Housing and amenities;
- Health and wellbeing risks and benefits;
- Socio-economic equity;
- Gender equality;
- Work-life balance;
- Jobs, productivity and innovation;
- Road safety and future mobility.
