Climate Change Education and Sustainability Learning

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is focused on sharing experiences from across the globe on climate change education and sustainability learning. We aim to document case studies, best practices, opportunities and challenges, and connections between the topics to advance research and practice around both climate change and sustainability. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Opportunities and challenges of climate change education;
- Opportunities and challenges of sustainability learning;
- Experiences of climate change learning and action;
- Connections between climate change mitigation and adaptation and sustainability learning;
- Student engagement in climate change-related initiatives;
- Innovative approaches and tools for climate change education and sustainability learning;
- Action and learning opportunities regarding SDG 13;
- Interconnections between the 2030 Agenda and climate change education;
- Local, national and international experiences in climate change education and sustainability learning;
- The role of climate change education and sustainability learning in climate justice.
