

Special Issue

Corporate Social Responsibility and Tourism Sustainability

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is designed to highlight contemporary research on corporate social responsibility (CSR) in tourism. A CSR philosophy enables individuals, organizations, and places to gain various advantages and promote their sustainable development. CSR is the subject of growing attention from tourism firms, governments and regulators, stakeholder groups, and the media. This Special Issue explores the interdisciplinary research in tourism management, psychology and social-cultural geography, and published theoretical and empirical research that contributes to our understanding of the challenges, antecedents, impacts, and benefits of CSR in tourism.
