Transforming Urban Mobility: Sustainable Solutions for Modern Cities

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, titled “Transforming Urban Mobility: Sustainable Solutions for Modern Cities”, seeks to bridge the gap between theoretical frameworks and actionable strategies. It aims to focus interdisciplinary research that addresses the multifaceted challenges of urban transportation, from technological innovation to policy reform and behavioural change. Suggested themes are as follows: Multimodality and multioptimality; Mobility behaviour; Smart mobility and digital integration; Policy and governance; Social equity and inclusive design; Interaction between mobility and urban planning; Climate resilience in transport infrastructure; Behavioural shifts and cultural change; Integrated urban networks for sustainable and smart mobility; Accessibility and attractiveness in urban areas; Modelling sustainable urban mobility; Solutions to reduce car dependency.
