Agritourism and Sustainability: Improving Resilience and Antifragility of Rural Areas

Message from the Guest Editors

The aim of this SI is to stimulate the discussion about how agritourism is changing in recent years and about the role of agritourism in supporting reaching the goals of the UN's 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Moreover, the SI calls for papers that highlight the contributions of agritourism in supporting resilience and antifragility at the micro (farm) and macro (rural system) levels during the current uncertain times. Possible topics are as follows:

- Sustainable agritourism.
- Agritourism in the post-pandemic era.
- Rural tourism experiences.
- Case studies of agritourism facing sustainability.
- Integrated rural development.
- Sustainable rural networks.
- Resilience/antifragility in agritourism farms.
- Agritourism and rural networks.
- Wine and food tourism, wine routes, and experiences.
