

Special Issue

Advances in Sustainable Rural Tourism: Methods, Strategies and Practice—2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is a continuation of a previous Special Issue, “Advances in Sustainable Rural Tourism: Methods, Strategies and Practice”.

This Special Issue is oriented towards original research/studies focusing on concrete proposals regarding the capitalization of specific rural environmental resources through tourism, specific strategies intended to highlight the role of rural tourism in ensuring sustainable development, case studies exploring different methods and strategies applied in different areas for the development of rural tourism, and the proposal of strategies for capitalizing on local community resources with an emphasis on sustainability, among others.

Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Case studies regarding the development of rural tourism in a particular area;
- Concrete directions/strategies for capitalizing on the resources of rural communities through rural tourism;
- Analysis of the impact of rural tourism on the local community;
- Analysis of the openness of local communities towards rural tourism;
- Sustainable rural tourism entrepreneurship;
- Innovative proposals for "branding" the rural environment through rural tourism.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
