

Special Issue

Sustainability in Geoheritage, Geoconservation and Disaster Prevention

Message from the Guest Editor

I am pleased to invite you to contribute your original research articles and reviews to this Special Issue, which aims to highlight the state of the art in research regarding geoheritage and conservation strategies, especially when exposed to geological risks and extreme climate events. The scope of this Special Issue includes, but is not limited to, the following topics: The development of new geoconservation strategies; Geoheritage and cultural landscape for tourism; Quantitative methods of geoheritage estimation; Impact of extreme climatic events on the conservation of geoheritage; Sustainable use of geoheritage and cultural landscape; The negative/positive impacts of slow tourism on geoheritage and landscape; Threats to geoheritage and its secondary use (re-use) in tourism; Natural and anthropic risks in sites of geological interest (in the broad sense); Geoheritage in urban and landscape planning; Contribution of historical archival and cartographic sources to the knowledge and study of geoheritage and geodiversity. I look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
