

Special Issue

Sustainable Management and Organizational Behavior in the Hospitality and Tourism Industry

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue seeks to explore the critical intersection of sustainability practices and organizational behavior within the hospitality industry. Due to the increasing pressure to adopt environmentally and socially responsible practices, it is essential to understand how these initiatives can be effectively integrated into daily operations. This Special Issue will investigate the role of leadership, employee engagement, and cultural influences in fostering a sustainable organizational culture. We aim to contribute to a deeper understanding of how the industry can balance economic, environmental, and social responsibilities. Submissions on, but not limited to, the following topics are invited:

- Green Leadership: The role of leadership in promoting sustainability in hospitality.
- Behavioral Change: Factors driving sustainable behaviors in hospitality employees.
- Sustainable Supply Chains: Innovations in managing supply chains in hospitality.
- Energy Efficiency and Economics: How behavioral economics promotes energy-saving actions in hospitality.
- Waste Reduction: Effective methods to minimize waste in hospitality organizations.
