From Concept to Reality: The Role of Micromobility in Enabling the 15-Minute City Vision

Message from the Guest Editors

By synthesizing interdisciplinary research and practical insights, this Special Issue aims to deepen our understanding of micromobility's pivotal role in translating the 15-minute city concept from abstraction to reality. Contributions to this issue will provide valuable guidance for policymakers, urban planners, researchers and practitioners seeking to create more sustainable, livable and equitable urban environments.
