

Special Issue

Exploring Education Management Strategies for Sustainable Development

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue uniquely and ambitiously invites the integration of both new and old ways of thinking about education management strategies for organisation sustainable development. We invite manuscripts across the whole theoretical and methodological scope of research policy and encourage theoretically grounded studies, but are also open to paradigmatically diverse contributions to education management strategies paired with creative but robust empirical evidence from different global settings and contexts. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Strategic management;
- Educational leadership;
- Organisation theory in education;
- Change management;
- Quality management;
- Knowledge management;
- Organizational learning;
- Intellectual capital management;
- Marketing management in education;
- Resource management;
- Campus and facility development;
- Relationship management;
- Managing external communications;
- Managing professional development;
- Managing digitalization transformation.
