

Special Issue

Towards Sustainability: Achieving Environmental Protection from a Safety Engineering Perspective

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aimed to foster interdisciplinary research that supports the creation of safer, more resilient societies, ensuring that human progress aligns with ecological integrity. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Safety engineering for environmental sustainability;
- Environmental safety and resilience;
- Disaster risk mitigation;
- Emerging industry safety challenges;
- Human health and environmental safety;
- Hazard prevention technologies;
- Sustainable safety management systems;
- Emergency response;
- Climate change adaptation in safety engineering;
- Biotechnology and safety;
- Case studies on safety engineering;
- Resilient infrastructure safety;
- Safety regulations for environmental protection;
- Safety culture and environmental protection;
- Safety and environmental protection education;
- Safety-related cleaner production technologies;
- Intelligent safety promoting environmental protection.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
