Firm Responses to Sustainable Development Goals in the Context of the Digital Era

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to explore the actions undertaken by firms for reducing negative environmental effects by following SDGs. Additionally, this Special Issue plans to focus on the role of technology for improving sustainable development goals as well as firm performance through technological innovation. The aim of this Special Issue is to add to the existing literature through qualitative and quantitative studies on topics including, but not limited to, the following:

- Exploring firm behaviors in light of SDGs.
- Assessing the impact of SDGs on firm sustainable performance.
- Highlighting the effect of technology on firm operations for reducing negative environmental effects.
- Inspecting the importance of technology for achieving SDGs.
- The extent of the impact that digitalization has on corporate social behavior.
- How current digitalization is shaping SDGs and firm success.
- Ways in which environmental glitches invite novel challenges.
- Ways in which digital technology provides awareness for controlling negative industrial effects.
- The application of corporate governance theories with digitalization.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.
