

Special Issue

Environmental Protection, Biodiversity Conservation and Sustainable Development

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue is aimed at researchers advancing environmental sustainability through integrative practices, both locally and globally. We welcome papers that address case studies, new methodologies, public policy analysis, responsible business initiatives, and cross-sector collaborations for the environment. We also welcome contributions that address environmental education and social awareness as essential tools for change. This Special Issue will bring together original research and innovative approaches that address the current challenges of environmental protection, biodiversity conservation and environmental sustainability, thus promoting practical and effective solutions to mitigate environmental impacts, strengthen ecosystem resilience and foster sustainable development globally. We look forward to receiving manuscripts that offer original perspectives, practical solutions and innovative approaches to move towards a more sustainable future.
