

Special Issue

Sustainable Product Design, Manufacturing and Management

Message from the Guest Editors

In the 21st century, there is a rising awareness of the importance of safeguarding the environment and minimizing our impact on the planet. As a result, businesses are being pushed to embrace more sustainable practices in areas such as product design, management, and manufacturing. Companies worldwide increasingly recognize the significance of proactive policies and preventive measures for environmental conservation, encompassing both economic and ecological considerations. This Special Issue is dedicated to exploring the innovative solutions that can help minimize the impact of humans on Earth. For this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following: Product design strategies New product development practices and tools Management practices Manufacturing practices and technologies Digital technologies and approaches Resource assessment and plan to minimize its use Optimization and control of raw resources Environmental effects of production We look forward to receiving your contributions.
